Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pan (U.S. Patent No. 6,304,764).

Regarding claims 1 and 11, Pan teaches a device for hands-free operation of a mobile telephone (see fig. Figs. 4A-D), comprising: means over which a signal can propagate, the means having a first end and a second end, the first end being configured for coupling to a mobile telephone and the second end being configured for coupling to an automobile amplifier (see figs 4A-D), the means further comprising a hands-free amplifier (see fig. 2a, pre-amplifier 12) for amplifying a signal received by the mobile telephone (see figs 2A-B), the means transmitting the amplified signal to the automobile amplifier (see fig. 4a, car audio amplifier 24) for broadcast over a speaker in the automobile (see figs 4a), thereby enabling the driver to hear the signal without having to hold the mobile telephone (see fig. 4a-d, and col. 1, line 57-col. 2, line 54).

Regarding claims 2 and 13, Pan teaches wherein the second end is a cigarette lighter adapter plug (see figs 2a-b, car cigarette lighter 10 and cigarette lighter adapter plug 17).

Regarding claims 3 and 14, Pan teaches wherein the plug is coupled to an automobile cigarette lighter outlet (see figs 2a-b, car cigarette lighter 10 and cigarette lighter adapter plug 17).

Regarding claims 4 and 12, Pan teaches wherein the second end is coupled to a power source (see figs 2a-b, car cigarette lighter 10).

Regarding claims 5 and 19, Pan teaches wherein the device transmits the amplified signal over the means to the automobile amplifier at a frequency of 88.7 Mhz (see figs. 4a-d, and col. 6, lines 15-30 and col. 7, lines 31-37).

Regarding claims 6 and 20, Pan teaches wherein the device transmits the amplified signal over the means to the automobile amplifier at a frequency of 106.5 Mhz (see figs. 4a-d, and col. 6, lines 15-30 and col. 7, lines 31-37).

Regarding claim 7, Pan teaches wherein the automobile amplifier amplifies the signal received from the means and broadcasts the signal over the automobile speaker (see col. 7, lines 32-53).

Regarding claims 8 and 15, Pan teaches wherein the device includes a microphone that detects a word spoken by the driver, thereby enabling the driver to speak over the mobile telephone without holding the mobile telephone (see fig. 2a, condense microphone 6 and voice activation 15, col. 4, lines 54-63).

Regarding claims 9 and 16, Pan teaches wherein the hands-free amplifier amplifies the word spoken by the driver and transmits the word over the means to the mobile telephone (see fig. 2a, condense microphone 6, pre-amplifier and voice activation 15, col. 4, lines 54-63, col. 1, lines 57-67).

Regarding claims 10 and 17, Pan teaches wherein the mobile telephone then transmits the signal to another telephone (see col. 4, lines 54-63, col. 1, lines 57-67).

Regarding claim 18, Pan teaches wherein the means employs an amplifier to amplify both the signal received by the mobile telephone and the word spoken by the driver (see fig. 4a-d, col. 1, line 56-col. 2, line 9).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Frank (U.S. Patent No. 6,058,184) discloses speaker unit with boom microphone.

Sadler (U.S. Patent No. 6,058,319) discloses cassette adapter for mobile telephones.

Vilmi (U.S. Patent No. 6,075,999) discloses hands free equipment.
